

Igrechway releases Igrechway Xylophone iPhone/iPad App for Toddlers on App Store

The fun kids app for iPhone and iPad is ideal for young music lovers

Auckland, New Zealand – Igrechway (<http://www.igrechway.com>) has released its new Igrechway Xylophone app, designed for musically-inclined youngsters who need a bit of entertainment at home or on the road. The kids app is now available for both iPad and iPhone.

“Cultivating interests early in life is really essential for parents who wish to see their child excel in areas that interest them. This app is ideal for children who have shown an interest in making music,” explained Evgeny Smirnov, co-founder of Igrechway.

Nataliya Smirnova added, “This children's app is very easy to use. We've designed it specifically with young children and little hands in mind. It's also a fun way to promote the development of those fine motor skills, so it's not just entertaining, it's a developmental toy too!”

The Igrechway Xylophone app is designed for toddlers and young children between the ages of 2 to 5. It's suitable for an array of settings, from the home to on-the-go settings such as in the car, during a shopping trip or while hanging out in the waiting room at the doctor's office.

The Igrechway Xylophone app comes with three different sound settings for a fun and engaging experience for little aspiring musicians. The sound options include a traditional xylophone sound, along with bells and even a fun barking dog sound.

This app features xylophone features bright colors, large keys and a fun background that features floating clouds and balloons.

If you're seeking a toddler-friendly toy app that will introduce your child to the world of music, Igrechway Xylophone is a must-have.

In addition to the new kids Xylophone app, Igreeway has developed an array of additional apps, including Igreeway Hangman and the Comoney app.

The Igreeway Xylophone app is currently available for iPhone and iPad. It's currently available for purchase for $.99 on the App Store.
